Manila, July 12.—[Special].—Gen. John C. Bates left today for Julo to negotiate with the sultan of the Sulu islands concerning a basis for relations between him and the United States.

They find that the loss in the Brazos bottom will represent 200,000 bales of cotton, representing $5,000,000 loss. They also find that the heavy rains which produced the flood and ruined the crops in the bottom have benefited cotton growing on the upper lands proportionately, so that by far the best crop harvested in years will be produced from the uplands this season, and they predict that the floods will have little effect on the cotton yield of Texas.

MANY EDUCATORS AT LOS ANGELES

EVERY STATE AND TERRITORY IS REPRESENTED.

They Are Given a Royal Welcome to the California City—Governor Gage Makes the Principal Address Needs of Our New Possessions Under Discussion—20,000 Attend.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 12.—Tuesday marked the opening of the thirty-eighth annual convention of the National Educational association. As President E. Oram Lyte called the body to order he was greeted with an audience of 8,000 persons, five-eighths being of the fair sex, drawn from every nook and corner of the United States, as not a state or territory was missing from the roll of delegates.

Gov. Henry T. Gage of California welcomed the delegates in behalf of the state. He said in part: "We should never forget the great debt of gratitude which we owe to the memory of the sturdy pioneers of the west, east, north and south, whose heroism, industry and perseverance hewed in the primeval forest blockhouses and established villages, forming the barriers against savage attacks, and there created the nucleus of American civilization. These achievements, under the direction of high intelligence, represent in history the era of physical strife."

During the night session an able and scholarly address was delivered by Dr. William T. Harris of Washington, the United States commissioner of education, on the subject, "An Educational Policy for Our New Possessions." Dr. Harris took the ground that the policy to be pursued for the educating of our newly acquired school population must, owing to racial and other problems, be one of evolution, but he said that the difficulties would be met, and, as the school system had arisen in America from the loins of need and experience, the same rules would apply in foreign lands.

Prof. Henry S. Townsend, the inspector general of schools in Hawaii, spoke upon the educational problem of Hawaii. Mr. Townsend demonstrated that the population of Hawaii, while mixed, was susceptible to cultivation, and the introduction of proper methods of a high grade of scholarship would quickly tend to bringing about greater and more beneficial results.

The most patriotic act of the day was the cabling of a message of greeting to the peace conference in Holland.

The national council of education held its final session Tuesday and listened to the reports of the officers of the body. One report on the relation of public libraries to public schools was read.

Prof. F. Louis Soldan of St. Louis was elected president, and Prof. Elmer E. Brown and Miss Bettie A. Dutton of Cleveland, Ohio, were elected vice presidents.

Owing to a washout near Barstow, on the desert, caused by a cloudburst, three sections of the overland were delayed until last night. All rumors that trains were ditched are false. No one was injured.

The attendance Tuesday was placed at almost 10,000, the later arrivals bringing the total almost to 12,000 for the convention.

COLORED GENTLEMEN PLAYED GOOD BALL

Y. M. C. A. TEAM LEAD THEM A CLOSE CHASE.

Heavy Batting of the Chicago Unions
Won the Game for Them—Adkins of the Locals, Retires Eleven to the Bench—Two Games with Oshkosh.

After passing through the city a number of times and spending several nights here, the Chicago Unions tarried long enough yesterday to win a ball from Adkins, McMasters & Co., in the presence of the largest crowd of the season. Both teams were at the park early and during the warming up heats it seemed as though the colored boys had speed enough to carry weight and win in a canter.

The game was advertised to commence at 3:45 and at that time the Unions took the field, when it was discovered that there was no umpire to officiate. After all the trouble and dissatisfaction we have had with umpires this season it seems as though Adkins would have had a competent man selected and on the grounds; but no, when the game should have been under way, it devolved upon Manager Kline to search the audience for one. In vain he sought someone willing to accept the honors of the position, and at last was forced to call "play," himself. Talk about tedious scoring at harness races! Well, they finally got away, with Allen at bat. He got his base on balls; McMasters went down, handed him the dope and the catcher caught him asleep three feet from the base. They were soon white-washed, and when the Unions came to bat it was plainly evident that they had no confidence in their ability to hit Adkins, and tried in every way to rattle him, ten men talking at the same time. (Why don't the manager give them a day off and take them to the circus, so that they can pick up a few new witticisms (?) from the clowns?) Finally, with two men on the bases, a ball was knocked close to foul line in right field. Adkins had not put up the foul flags, and to be on the safe side (his side) Kline called it a foul. It must have been a terrible decision, as it was claimed fair by one foot. Anyway, a miniature cyclone struck the diamond, and after the debris was removed, and the dust had cleared away, Manager Leland of the Unions, was discovered as Kline's successor. He did very well until Adkins disputed one of his decisions on balls, then he went into the air and alighted on the grand stand. After much persuasion and loud cries from the spectators, he was induced to resume the position in which thereafter he was thorough master of the situation—his intelligent and impartial umpiring turning a burlesque into a real ball game, and there was no more kicking.

The following is the line up:
JANESVILLE. Position. UNIONS.
Adkins, p. Horn
McMasters, c. Jackson
Olson, 1b. Mora
Allen, 2b. Hopkins
Palmer, ss. Monroe
Brown, 3b. Hyde
Fisher, rf. Jones
Brewer, cf. Holland
Blakely, lf. Jones
The score by innings:
Janesville.....0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0-1
Chicago Unions.....0 0 1 2 0 0 1 4-4
Struck out—By Adkins, 11; by Holland 2.
Bases on balls—Off Adkins, 3; off Holland, 3.
Home runs—Monroe, Holland. Two base hits—McMasters, Monroe. Double plays—Allen to Olson; Hyde, Hopkins to Mora. Hit by pitched ball—Blakely, Horn. Umpire—Kline, Leland.
Notes of the Game.
In the third innings, Monroe, the first man up for the Unions, hit the first ball pitched over the left field fence for a home run—It was a beauty. Then Adkins struck out the next three men—a wonderful feat.
In the fourth inning with two men out Horn got his base on balls and Holland brought him in with a home run hit over the fence that would have been caught on good sized grounds.
Allen and Brown also seemed to depend upon Adkins to do everything and did not play their usual snappy game.
Roy Palmer did very well at short stop under the circumstances. He has had no practice in the position.
Out of three fly balls to the outfield two went over the fence; the other was caught by Blakely.
Sometime when Adkins hasn't anything else to do he ought to put in a new home plate.
When the Union batters reached the point of the jaw they seemed to have knock out force to their blows, but how groggy they got, striking at the wide, wide world!
Whew! but didn't Adkins put them through, and he likes it too.
With a short stop and two fielders who can bat and some life infused into their base running, the Y. M. C. A.'s should make it interesting for almost any club.
After all it was a great deal better and closer game than the most optimistic crank expected.

The one run made by the home nine was handsomely earned. A base hit by Palmer; sacrificed to second by Allen; to third by Blakely, and brought in by base hit of McMasters—pretty work.
Games Tomorrow and Friday.

A good game of ball may be expected by the local enthusiasts tomorrow morning, when the Y. M. C. A. team will meet the team from Oshkosh. Owing to the races in the afternoon, the game is to be played in the morning and will be called at 10 o'clock. The Oshkosh team is a strong one and contains three former Janesville players, Morrissey, Crall and Sullivan. Janesville will play three games, the second Friday morning and the last will be played at Sharon Saturday.

LAST NIGHT IN THE AMUSEMENT WORLD

RONEY CONCERT PROVES RARE
MUSICAL TREAT.

Large Audience Assembled at the Auditorium of the Court Street M. E. Church—Sweet Vocal and Instrumental Music Rendered by Artists—
"The Exile" Given at the Myers Grand.

The large audience that assembled at the auditorium of the Court Street M. E. church last evening, composed of the elite of the city, had no cause for disappointment and were treated to concert music both vocal and instrumental by the Blatchford Kavanagh and Roney Boys' Concert company, such as is seldom the good fortune of a Janesville audience to hear. The company appeared under the auspices of W. H. Sargent Woman's Relief Corps No. 21.

There was encore after encore and the members of this popular company of musical entertainers responded generously to the hearty testimonials of their efficiency by an appreciative audience. Especially was the applause liberal when Blatchford Kavanagh appeared. He has grown in beauty of voice and feature and has become noted in every quarter of the sphere and has now a reputation as the "boy Patti." Although he retired from public view for eight years by a natural change of voice, he is one of the few musical phenomena the world has refused to forget. In his inevitably brief and meteoric career as a youth he made an impression that was deep and lasting. This was due to the exceptional power and sweetness of his voice, its irresistible pathos, its captivating mechanism of sympathy, its divine qualities of soul awakening. These things caused his memory to be cherished with affection, and created an interest in his future which nothing else could have done.

He sang four songs last evening in an exquisite manner and scored a great hit in singing, "Old Kentucky Home." Harriet Dement Packard, dramatic soprano, sang several beautiful selections. Her duet with Mr. Kavanagh was a pleasing number and when she sang little Jamie Crippen, both were forced to acknowledge a double encore.

Jamie Crippen has a sweet contralto voice and was a general favorite with the audience. Master Percy Sudborough proved himself the master of the violin, saxophone and clarinet and his solos were greatly enjoyed.

Arthur Goff, the ten-year-old cornetist, displayed great ability and his duet with Master Stodborough was one of the most highly enjoyed numbers on the program.

A waltz song by the entire company formed a most fitting finale which opened with an organ solo by Mr. Roney, who also played the piano accompaniments.

"The Exile" at Myers Grand

A fair sized audience assembled at Myers Grand last evening to witness the production of the four-act melodrama, "The Exile," by the Anderson Theatre Company. The work by these artists was very clever and the sensational features were many and the specialties were all that could be desired. The parts were all well taken, and in fact the performance as a whole gave the best of satisfaction.

The attendance was not as large as it would have been, had it not been for a strong counter attraction.

This evening "The World" will be the bill. Little's "World" is an old time play and it should give good satisfaction. Popular prices will prevail, 10, 20 and 30 cents.

A BINDING TWINE SWINDLE

Rock County Farmers Should Not Bite at Tempting Bait

The season for buying binding twine is here and many farmers are no doubt enticed by the deceptive advertising of department stores in the larger cities into sending away for twine that costs a couple of cents less a pound than the home merchant asks. We would warn farmers against this practice. It has been demonstrated by actual measurement that a ball of the department store twine is 400 feet shorter than that sold at home. This difference in length in favor of the home merchant will more than equal the few cents difference in price. The twine will weigh about the same, but to find the real saving measure a ball of each.

SUPPOSE THE WOMAN DID Sole of Canned Peas Opens Up An Inter- esting Train of Thought.

Suppose a lady should come into your store and ask if you had any good canned peas. Naturally you would answer yes. Very probably you would reach up and get a can of Baltimores. But would you content yourself with simply laying it on the counter, with the remark: "Baltimore brand, sifted small early June peas, ten cents a can?" Wouldn't you in every case say something like this: "These peas are delicious, madam. They are very small and tender, and I never tasted anything better?" That is exactly what you ought to say in your advertisements. A splendid way to write advertisements is to imagine a customer standing before your counter. Put in your advertisement exactly what you would say were she standing face to face with you.—Grocery World.

DOINGS AT NORTH MAGNOLIA.

District Officers Elected—Telephone Exchange Will Soon be Established.

North Magnolia, July 12.—Last Monday the people of the district met to elect officers. There was a very good attendance, but the ladies were rather scarce. They elected two new officers, Mr. York, as clerk, and Mr. Hees, as director, also voted to hire the same teacher for the coming school year. If it is so hard to find men in the district competent to hold the offices, why not put in the women and give the men a chance to improve? The people would get more value for the money paid out. The Fourth was so stormy that the picnic at Magnolia Corners was postponed until Wednesday evening. The young people from this vicinity attending, were, Miss Blanche Nevil and George Shaw, who took part in the singing. All reported a pleasant time. A number of the young people drove to Albany to see the fireworks, but were quite disappointed as there were none. Masters Verne and Perry Shaw, of Chicago, are spending a few weeks with their grandparents. The telephone poles are going up quite lively, and it will soon be so we can talk with our neighboring towns. Sunday school will be started next Sunday afternoon at half past two in the schoolhouse. Everybody is cordially invited to come and bring the children. Raspberries are ripening very fast. Next week will about finish them. The farmers are busy in their hay, or those that have any. Remember the Sunday school.

GOOD CROPS ARE IN SIGHT.

Encouraging Reports Received from Western States.

ENORMOUS YIELDS OF GRAIN.

Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota Are Said to Be Almost Ready for the Harvest—Michigan Has Little Wheat—In Indiana.

Sioux City, Iowa, July 12.—Reports received here from station agents of railroads at points in South Dakota, Nebraska and northwestern Iowa without exception declare that the crops in those states are magnificent. Last week's weather continued favorable for all crops, but in the growth of corn there was the most marked improvement. This is true of every section traversed by the two railway lines. Only here and there does corn continue to be backward, and it will receive its final cultivation this week. Barley is fully headed out and is beginning to turn ripe. Wheat and oats have all commenced to head, and as a rule there is a fine stand. Some rust has made its appearance, but not enough yet to do any damage. In some sections there is danger of small grain lodging on bottom land because of the heavy straw. From one or two localities in Nebraska come reports of need of rain. Already railroads are being crowded for cars to meet the coming requirements.

Michigan Small Wheat Crop. Lansing, Mich., July 12.—The crop report issued by the department of state is of more than ordinary importance, inasmuch as it gives an estimate of Michigan's wheat and fruit crops for this year. The number of acres of wheat on the ground as reported by the supervisors this spring was 1,906,947, this total being based on actual reports. It is evident, however, that the number of acres actually harvested will be considerably smaller than this, as a careful estimate shows that at least 18 per cent of the total acreage has been plowed up or cut for hay, the wheat having been winter-killed. The report states that the estimated total yield of the state this year, which is 15,250,000, will be found to be very nearly correct. This total makes the average yield per acre only eight bushels.

Some Harvesting in Indiana. Indianapolis, Ind., July 12.—One weekly crop bulletin for Indiana says weather favorable for growing crops continued during the week. In many localities thrashing and harvesting were interrupted by rains. The rains were widely distributed. The oat harvest began in the southern half of the state, and in the northern portion oats are nearly ripe. The yield promises to be good. Wheat thrashing continues, with various results. The hay crop so far secured is heavy. Timothy haying is in progress. Pasture and live stock continue in good condition.

Persons troubled with diarrhoea will be interested in the experience of Mr. W. M. Bush, clerk of Hotel Dorrance, Providence, R. I. He says: "For several years I have been a constant sufferer from diarrhoea, the frequent attacks completely prostrating me and rendering me unfit for my duties at this hotel. About two years ago a traveling salesman kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Much to my surprise and delight its effects were immediate. Whenever I felt symptoms of the disease I would fortify myself against the attack with a few doses of this valuable remedy. The result has been very satisfactory and almost complete relief from the affliction." For sale by People's Drug Co., corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

No Notice of Leopold's Visit. Washington, July 12.—The report that the king of Belgium would visit Newport this summer is discredited in official quarters here. No such intimation has come from any of our officials abroad.

"I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for years and always with good results," says Mr. W. R. Cooper of El Rio, Cal. "For small children we find it especially effective." For sale by People's Drug Co.

Ordinance to South Africa. London, July 12.—The Seventy-third battery of artillery has been ordered to South Africa, making the fifth battery of field artillery now under orders for the Cape.

NO FINANCIAL BILL PREPARED.

Senator Allison Says Measures Have Been Only Under Discussion.

Providence, R. I., July 12.—Senator Allison, who, with other members of the subcommittee of the senate finance committee, has been engaged in studying financial questions at Narragansett Pier, said Tuesday that no bill had been prepared nor any draft of one as yet. In fact, no actual vote had been taken on any of the questions that had been discussed. The recommendation of Secretary Gage on the retirement of greenbacks had received the earnest attention of the committee, and the question of the redemption of the United States treasury notes was another matter which had come before the committee, but on this, as on other questions, nothing had gone beyond the point of discussion and study. Senator Allison hinted that there might be a change of the law in regard to the coinage of silver.

New York, July 12.—The senate finance committee, which has been sitting at Narragansett Pier for the last week or so, will, it is said, resume its conferences at the Oriental hotel, Coney Island, either on Saturday next or on Monday. According to the best testimony, the senators on this committee have not yet prepared a currency bill. The outlines of the bill have been drafted, but it will be some time before the full measure can be prepared. Meantime the senators are to sit a week or two at the Oriental hotel and listen to all sorts of arguments and plans.

STRENGTH OF A GRIZZLY.

One Carried a Dead Cow for Three Miles.

A hunter tells some wonderful stories about the strength of grizzly bears. He saw one that had had one of its forepaws shot useless, use the other to draw its weight of 1,100 pounds up a precipice, where it seemed as if the feat were impossible. He tells also of cows knocked over by a single blow from the forepaw of a bear; but perhaps the most surprising story is of an occurrence that he witnessed "three summers ago. He says: "I spent the season in the coast mountains near Hudson bay, and one moonlight night I saw a big grizzly bear in the act of carrying a dead cow home to her cub. I had a position on the mountainside, from which I could see every movement of the bear in the sparsely timbered valley below. She carried the cow in her forepaws for at least three miles, across jagged rocks ten feet high, over fallen logs, around the rocky mountainside, where even a jackass could not get a foothold, to a narrow trail up the steep mountain. She never stopped to rest a moment, but went straight on. I followed her, and about half a mile from her lair laid her low. The cow weighed at least 200 pounds, and the bear about 450." Youth's Companion.

The World's Alphabet.

The number of letters in the alphabets of different languages varies considerably. English and German have 26 letters; French, 25; Spanish, 27; Italian, 20; Russian, 36; Greek, 24; Latin and Hebrew, 22; Celtic, 17; Arabic, 28; Persian, 31; Turkish, 28; Sanskrit, 44, and Chinese, most of all, 214.

Plug-ugly.—Don't use powder, paint or arsenic. Ruins your complexion. Take Rocky Mountain Tea: will make lovely color, fine form. Smith's Pharmacy; kodak agents.

The Midsummer Hats.

There are countless new hats and there are very few women now who cannot boast of at least one French hat in their summer outfit. The hats intended for midsummer wear are most attractive and the coloring is exquisite. Flowers are used in reckless profusion and there are some very odd combinations of coloring due to having both ribbon and flowers on the same hat. One very smart hat, intended for wear at Newport, is of pink straw, trimmed with deeper pink roses and taffeta bow of a shade of heliotrope. There is also a veiling of a very pale shade of heliotrope that shades both the bow and the flowers and makes them tone together in the most artistic fashion.

Roses are the favorite flower this summer, and in every possible and many impossible shades. Masses of them are put together on the rough yellow straws, or one single rose will be seen on the fine white straw bonnets. For every-day wear the old-fashioned panama hat is again fashionable. It is trimmed with black velvet and is on the shape of the sailor hat and of lighter weight.

Largest Peach Tree.

New York Tribune: The largest peach tree in the United States is said to be in Naples, Kent county, Md. The trunk is 67 inches in circumference and 22 inches in diameter, or about the size of an ordinary kerosene barrel. Three of the limbs are 22, 20 and 30 inches in circumference respectively. The tree is 25 years old and is vigorous and in full bearing.

Stealing Diamonds.

A hole in his right leg enabled a negro workman in the diamond fields of South Africa to secrete and steal gems to the value of $273,000. These he expressed in small parcels of fruits to a cousin in King William's Town, in the extreme south of Africa, from which place both recently departed for England.

A Novel Wedding Present.

One of the recent brides has received a small hand "flash light" as a wedding gift. It may be turned on at a moment by the mere pressure of the thumb, which when removed extinguishes the light. It is of a convenient size for carrying about in one's pocket, and would be fine to flash a light on burglars. The charge gives 8,000 flashes, or will burn steadily for over five hours. It is the most ingenious little novelty for a wedding or birthday present.

Police Not Sent to Alaska.

Ottawa, Ont., July 12.—According to the Canadian view the Washington authorities are not well posted on the geography of the disputed territory along the Alaskan boundary. The story from Washington that the Canadian government intends sending mounted police to the Porcupine region is regarded here as a mistake arising from ignorance of the region in question.

Our baby has been continually troubled with colic and cholera infantum since his birth, and all that we could do for him did not seem to give more than temporary relief, until we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Since giving that remedy he has not been troubled. We want to give you this testimonial as an evidence of our gratitude, not that you need it to advertise your meritorious remedy.—G. M. Law, Keokuk, Iowa. For sale by People's Drug Co.

Treaty with France Delayed.

Washington, July 12.—It appears to be the accepted view in well-informed government quarters that the limit of concession has been reached in the negotiations with the French authorities for a reciprocity treaty. Tuesday's conference did not bring about any material advance in the negotiations. Some further concessions have been made by this country, but these have not been sufficient to close the negotiations. At the same time there is no thought as yet of abandoning them, and a treaty may result later.

TAKES A HIGH PLACE

Stands Well in the Estimation of the People.

Attention is Naturally Excited When Anything is Praised by People Whom We Know.

A thing that stands high in the estimation of the public, and which is especially recommended by Janesville people; naturally excites our attention more than if our own people did not praise the article. Such a thing is going on right here in this city every day. People are praising Morrow's Kid-neoids because they cure. There is no deception, no humbug, they do positively cure, and we furnish the evidence. Mrs. James Close, 8 North street, says: "I have been troubled with kidney and liver complaint and constipation for a long time. I had severe pains across the small of my back in the region of my kidneys. I was so nervous I could not sleep. My liver was torpid and I suffered from indigestion and had such distressing pains in my stomach. I used different kinds of kidney remedies but did not experience much relief, until I commenced to take Morrow's Kid-neoids and Liver-lax. These grand remedies relieved me of all my former troubles."

Morrow's Kid-neoids are not pills, but yellow tablets, and sell at fifty cents a box at all drug stores and at The People's Drug Store.

Mailed on receipt of price. Manufactured by John Morrow & Co., chemists, Springfield Ohio.

A Point Worth Remembering

In connection with comfortable, stylish foot covering is the price. This is the season when you hear more of aching and tired feet, and you wonder at the cause. It is manifold—but nearly always lies in the fact that your foot is made to conform to a last that is not properly outlined to its peculiar want. Every foot has its own distinctive requirements, and are as varied as the faces you meet every day on the street. To suit these we have the experience in Shoe-Buying and Foot-Fitting that enables us at all times to satisfy the taste and want of every trader at our store. We can show you the best values in a Man's or Ladies' Summer Shoe on any of our latest lasts, at prices you can't duplicate anywhere. We now have a lot of broken lines that it would mean money saved to you by looking at them. NOT AN OLD STYLE. Just simply to get rid of them and save you dollars. You will find the best Boys' Shoes at our store. We always keep a big variety. Watch for our broken lines—$4.00 and $3.50 worth—all at the common figure, $2.75.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE LINK THAT BINDS.

JACKSON, TENN., NOV. 23.

I was subject to miscarriage for three years, and suffered constantly with backache. I wrote to you for advice, and after using three bottles of Wine of Cardui, according to your directions, I am strong and well, and the mother of a fine girl baby.

Mrs. E. N. JOWERS.

Wine of Cardui

There is no use talking—a baby in the house is the link that binds husband and wife together. Nothing is sadder than fruitless wedlock. The prattling and cooing of the little ones offset a thousand times the occasional worries and trials of life. When a wife is barren, there is a derangement somewhere in the genital organs, caused by one or more of those common disorders known as "female troubles". Wine of Cardui is the remedy. It puts the organs of generation in a strong and healthy condition, fitting the wife for the sacred duty of reproducing her kind. During the period of gestation the entire system of the expectant mother is built up to withstand the ordeal of labor, and when the little one makes its advent it is lusty and strong, well-fitted to grow to maturity in perfect health. The mother, too, passes through the trial with little pain and no dread. Wine of Cardui is truly a wonderful medicine for women.

Large Bottles for $1.00 at Druggists.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

1536—Erasmus, the reformer, died at Basel; born 1467.
1890—Battle of the Boyne: by old style the date was July 1. Boyne river is a classic stream in Ireland and has been called "Boyne of Science." On its banks Hahemann was fought the decisive battle between William III, prince of Orange, and King James II, deposed king of England.
1843—Samuel Hahemann, eminent German physician, founder of the homeopathic school, died; born 1785.
1848—Dolly Madison (born Dorothy Payne), widow of President Madison, died in Washington; born 1772.
1870—Rear Admiral John A. Dahlgren, U. S. N., died at Washington; born 1810.
1892—Cyrus W. Field of Atlantic cable fame died in Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.; born 1819.

GEN. KING AND THE TAGALS.

General Charles King says in the New York Sun, that his statement concerning the Filipinos has been generally misunderstood. When he said they were capable of self government, etc., he meant only the Tagals of Luzon, not the tribes of the islands. The residents of Manila and its vicinity are the only Filipinos he intended to include, as they are, he says, "industrious, frugal, temperate and clean." Continuing he says: "I am astonished, however, to be informed that certain anti-administration papers claim that my opinion of the Tagal means that I think the war should end, our troops withdrawn and the islanders left to themselves. That interference is absolutely unjustifiable. Our flag must never be lowered in the face of an armed foe, and if it costs thousands of men and millions of money the insurgents who rewarded our friendship with treachery and armed attack must be utterly subdued."

"I much mistake the temper of the American people if even a small number fail to accord to our president and to our commander in Manila that solid support which your glorious governor [Roosevelt] on his recent visit to our city urged as the paramount duty of the nation today."

"To conclude, then, it must be remembered that these people have had fine schooling in partisan warfare; that their men number thousands more than ours; that they can scatter when they wish and assemble where they will, and that we cannot, with the force now at Gen. Otis' disposal, begin to hold the towns or lines from which we drive them, and that men, guns and horses in abundance should be sent to administer the crushing blows that must be given. In Lawton and MacArthur, in Wheaton and Funston, Gen. Otis has splendid division and brigade leaders, and when the rainy season closes and roads and fields become once more passable let them be swept by 50,000 effective soldiers until the last armed foe has vanished. Then, and not till then, let us have peace."

Gen. King's statement had been widely circulated, and occasioned much comment, as it varied, in the sense in which it was taken generally, from the statements of others equally competent to judge. Gen. King's explanation makes the matter clear, however, and shows that he has simply covered the ground that had already been covered by Admiral Dewey and others who speak from personal knowledge.

The announcement is made that the now fashionable game of golf was put down by an act of Parliament in Scotland in 1841 as a nuisance. Then fines were inflicted on people who were found guilty of playing the game, for it interfered with the practice of archery, as men preferred wielding the club to pulling the bow.

Now, however, things have changed. The people play the game first, and wield "the long bow" afterward in talking about it.

The newspaper clipping bureau business has grown to wonderful proportions, and that a great many people enjoy reading what the newspapers have to say about them is demonstrated by the fact that today 50,000 persons and $50,000,000 are employed in the business of making and distributing newspaper clippings among those whom they concern.

The appropriation for the public library is to be restored to the old figure, $3,000. Last year the appropriation was cut, and while the reduction was not noticed by the taxpayers, it worked hardship in the management of the library. This was not as it should be. The library is of untold value, and should be amply provided for.

Col. Bryan finds profit in politics. His schedule of personal property filed with the city tax authorities show that he is the richest man in Lincoln in the matter of personal property.

Among birds the swan lives to be the oldest, in extreme cases reaching 300 years; the falcon has been known to live over 162 years. There is no case on record, however, where a pudamuk has died.

Edward Atkinson will doubtless be greatly shocked to learn that one thousand volunteers who are now on duty in the Philippines, desire to re-enlist.

It is perfectly natural, it would appear, that paper made from seaweed should be transparent.

Two railway companies can hardly be expected to use the same track, even for switching purposes.

It is said that Wisconsin is to have ten commissions under the new call for volunteers.

How to Reach Two Famous Resorts

An Outing Hint From "Outing."

Fast, safe, superbly equipped and most carefully governed, one need not wonder at the great popularity of the New York Central. No other line affords such facilities for through travel between the East and the West as this wonderful four-track system. In the possession of Grand Central Station, located in the heart of New York City, and within trifling distances of all first-class hotels, this railway offers greater advantages than competing lines. Spring, summer, autumn and winter, it has attractions irresistible. The great Northern Wilderness, the playground of the state, now beckons its thousands. As autumn falls, America's scenic masterpiece, far-famed Niagara, will claim its annual host of pilgrims with its majestic power, the fierce turmoil of the Whirlpool and all the picturesque surroundings, the awesome Cave of the Winds and the several other minor attractions of the vicinity. And when winter comes then the entire scene transformed to what seems a fairyland of marvelous frost dressings, of icy forts and snowy palaces; of gleaming, crystal prison barriers vainly striving to bind the roaring, foaming plunge of water—will present a spectacle of weird, mysterious beauty which is not duplicated in the world.—Outing.

CHEAP WAY OF MAKING ICE.

Man Fills His Icehouse at the Cost of 5 Cents a Ton.

An interesting and novel process of producing ice by natural methods has been put in operation in this town by a resident. A year ago he had a building specially constructed for his use. The experiment house is unique. It has no windows, but is four square, with a door in each side. The owner says he can make ice faster in a house with doors at the corners rather than in the middle of the sides; still this one does the business. Inside the house is what might be termed another house—a crate—water-tight, and built so as to avoid rigidity of angles, and to allow of the expansion of the water in freezing. The expansion is one-twelfth, so the space to be left between the sides of the crate and of the house proper is easily determined. In the early days of experiments more than one house was smashed by the bulging propensities of freezing water.

At one end of the house is a standpipe from the main of the Claremont water works. The water is spring water, but an application is made of electricity to still further purify it as it stands in tanks after being drawn from the source of supply. It rushes first through a rubber tube to a tank sixty feet from the main and on the second floor of the building. Another tube, sixty feet long, takes it to a second tank. A third lets it run to floor of the crate. As it runs out it moves slowly and more slowly, like clear, cold, crystalline molasses—still more slowly—and stops, frozen. The ice builds upon itself in the crate—forming anchor ice, not a top film, and the end is a crate of pure, solid ice of such color as no one ever saw who has been limited to ice cut from ordinary ponds and rivers. The tubes are arranged with respect to the openings in the building so as to get the maximum amount of cold wind blowing on them. One day's experiment illustrates the process of freezing. The water in the standpipe was at 45 degrees. It was eighteen minutes passing through the tubes, and its temperature as it issued upon the floor of the crate was 30 degrees, or two degrees below freezing, and a total reduction of fifteen degrees. The out-of-door temperature was at about freezing. If anyone visits the experiment house today the owner will show him a crate full of ice—one solid block of about 800 tons weight. The erection of houses of the type required is easily accomplished anywhere, and the ice can be manufactured at a cost of about five cents a ton.—Boston Herald.

STATE CYCLE MEET OPENED HERE TODAY

CROWDS ATTEND FROM ALL OVER THE STATE

Brodhead Sent the Largest Delegation, Headed by Their Own Band--The Best of Riders Competed--Races Tomorrow Equally as Fast--Program Friday

Ideal weather made the opening day's racing on the fourteenth annual state L. A. W. meet program a most successful one.

At an early hour this morning the fair grounds began to show much activity and by 6 o'clock fully two hundred people were on hand putting all in readiness.

The atmosphere was warm, but just such a day was needed to make the riders go.

Long before the gates were open, thousands of people were on hand to see the riders work out and it was well past the noon hour before many of the professionals left for their training quarters.

At 9:30 o'clock the first out-of-town delegation to arrive came from Brodhead, three hundred strong headed by the Brodhead band of thirty pieces. After parading through the business section of the city the band marched to the park, where they gave an excellent concert to a large and appreciative audience. The Brodhead band is considered one of the best in the state, and the city to which it belongs may well feel proud of such a musical organization.

At 1 o'clock the Brodhead band marched to the fair grounds and from that time until late in the afternoon cyclists kept paying admission.

When the races were called at 2 o'clock the grand stand was filled and teams were outstretched for a half mile on both sides of the track.

Charles L. Sloan, of this city, acted as announcer and a more able man to fill this difficult place would be hard to find.

The first event on the score card proved to be the novice race with five entries.

The mile national championship amateur was in four heats with the best of riders entered.

Chicago Mayor Disappoints Many. Carter H. Harrison, mayor of Chicago, disappointed a large number by not putting in an appearance. A month ago he promised to be on hand and deliver a short address, providing important business did not prevent him at the last moment.

Large delegations arrived on the noon train from the west and north, the greater portion coming from Monroe, Fort Atkinson, Rockford, Beloit and Jefferson.

From West Superior, Ashland, and as far away as St. Paul, arrived several interested cyclists on the morning trains.

At both the Hotel Myers and Grand cyclists were to be found in goodly numbers throughout the day.

The handicap events proved to be the most interesting on the entire program.

In the five-mile handicap there were twenty-four entries with Major Taylor on scratch.

In the one-mile amateur twenty-five riders faced the starter.

In the quarter-mile state championship race there were twelve starters.

Milwaukee-Watertown Run
The second annual Milwaukee-Watertown handicap century run will occur on July 30. The entrance fee is one dollar, and entries should be sent to H. L. Marshall, State Centurion, 43 Norman, Milwaukee. Persons sending entries should give their best time for a century run, or if they have not ridden a century, their best time for twenty miles, with name and address. Limit men start at 6 a. m. and scratch men at 9 a. m. A gold medal is the time prize, and the other prizes will be useful and valuable.

Cycling Notes.
The grand stand was well patronized. Charles Dunn had the checking privilege for wheels and he did a good business.

E. V. Whiton had a refreshment stand on the grounds and business was always brisk.

Souvenirs were sold on the grounds and the majority of cyclists purchased. The Milwaukee papers sent correspondents here.

Nat McDougall, the well known amateur, was badly injured by a fall while riding on the track. The crown head of his wheel broke.

WILL ATTEND CIRCUIT RACES
Line City Wheelmen Here in Full Force on Beloit Day.

The Beloit News in speaking of the annual meet of the Wisconsin division of the L. A. W., has the following to say: A large number of wheel enthusiasts are planning to attend the fourteenth annual meet of the Wisconsin division of the L. A. W. at Janesville, beginning tomorrow. Although a great many will witness all the three days' races, the greatest number will take them in on Beloit day, going up with the City Band's excursion. Few lovers of bicycle races will fail to attend on at least one of these days.

The interest in the amateur events tomorrow centers in the race in which several well known speedy Beloit riders are entered. The entries of Beloit men follow:

Mile Novice—John Day.
Mile Handicap—W. O. Gowing, John Day, W. F. Carls, O. R. Foster.
Rock county two mile championship—John Day, O. R. Foster, W. A. Gowing.

Two mile open—W. A. Gowing.
These are all fast riders who have demonstrated their speed on the Beloit track and great things are expected of them. Beloit is sure to get the Rock county championship, as the entries in this race are all Beloit men.

On Thursday occurs a multicyle race in which Leon D. Chilcott, W. A. Gowing and Will Carls will ride a triquet. Frank Van Wart will act as assistant referee for the meet.

England is Ying Kwo, the flourishing country; France is Fa Kwo, the law-abiding country; the United States is Mei Kwo, the beautiful country; Germany, Je Kwo, the virtuous country; Italy, I Kwo, the country of justice; Japan is Ji Kwo, the land of the sun, but prefers to be called Ji Pan, the land of the rising sun.

The Necessary Resources.

By Anthony Hope

COPYRIGHT, 1899, BY A. D. DAWSON.

The affair had three obvious results—the marriage of Prince Julian, Sir Henry Shum's baronetcy and the complete renovation of Lady Craigenoch's town house. Its other effects, if any, were more obscure.

By accident of birth and of political events Prince Julian was a pretender, one of several gentlemen who occupied that position in regard to the throne of an important European country. By a necessity of their natures Messrs. Shum & Byers were financiers. Thanks to a fall in rents and a taste for speculation, Lady Craigenoch was hard put to it for money and had become a good friend and ally of Mr. Shum. Sometimes he allowed her to put a finger in one of his pies and draw out a little plum for herself. Byers, hearing one day of his partner's acquaintance with Lady Craigenoch, observed, "She might introduce us to Prince Julian." Shum asked no questions, but obeyed. That was the way to be comfortable and to grow rich if you were Mr. Byers' partner. The introduction was duly effected. The prince wondered vaguely, almost ruefully, what these men expected to get out of him. Byers asked himself quite as dolefully whether anything could be made out of an indolent, artistic, lazy young man like the prince. Pretenders such as he served only to buttress existing governments.

"Yes," agreed Shum. "Besides, he's entangled with that woman."

"Is there a woman?" asked Byers. "I should like to know her."

So, on his second visit to Palace Gate, Mr. Byers was introduced to the lady who was an inmate in Prince Julian's house, but was not received in society. Lady Craigenoch, however, opining, justly enough, that since she had no girls she might know whom she pleased, had called on the lady and was on friendly terms with her. The lady was named Mrs. Rivers and was understood to be a widow.

"And surely one needn't ask for his death certificate!" pleaded Lady Craigenoch. Byers, as he took tea in Mrs. Rivers' boudoir, was quite of the same mind. He nursed his square chin in his lean hand and regarded his hostess with marked attention. She was handsome—that fact concerned Byers very little; she was also magnificently self-confident—that trait roused his interest in a moment. He came to see her more than once again, for now an idea had begun to shape itself in his brain. He mentioned it to nobody, least of all to Mrs. Rivers. But one day she said to him, with the careless contempt that he admired.

"If I had all your money, I should do something with it."

"Don't!" he asked, half liking, half resenting, her manner.

"Oh, you make more money with it, I suppose."

She paused for a moment, and then, leaning forward, began to discuss European politics with especial reference to the condition of affairs in Prince Julian's country. Byers listened in silence. She told him much that he knew, a few things which had escaped him. She told him also one thing which he did not believe—that Prince Julian's indolent airs covered a character of rare resolution and tenacity. She repeated this twice, thereby betraying that she was not sure her first statement had carried conviction. Then she showed that the existing government in the prince's country was weak, divided, unpopular and poor, and then she ran over the list of rival pretenders and proved how deficient all of them were in the qualities necessary to gain or keep a throne. At this point she stopped and asked Mr. Byers to take a second cup of tea. He looked at her with interest and amusement in his shrewd eyes. She had all the genius, the native power, with none of the training, none of the knowledge, of men. He read her so easily, but there was a good deal to read. In one point, however, he read her wrongly. Almost the only mistake he made was due to forgetting the possible existence of unselfish emotion.

Prince Julian had plenty of imagination; without any difficulty he imagined himself regaining his ancestral throne, sitting on it in majesty and establishing it in power. This vision Mrs. Rivers called up before his receptive mind by detailing her conversation with Mr. Byers. "You want nothing but money to do it," she said. And Byers had money in great heaps; Shum had it, too, and Shum was for present purposes Byers' so were a number of other persons, all with money. "I believe the people are devoted to me in their hearts," said Prince Julian; then he caught Mrs. Rivers by both her hands and cried, "And then you shall be my queen."

"Indeed I won't," said she, and she added almost fiercely, "Why do you bring that up again now? It would spoil it all." For, contrary to what the world thought, Prince Julian had offered several times to marry the lady who was not received or visited, except of course by Lady Craigenoch. Stranger still, this marriage was the thing which the prince desired above all things, for failing it he feared that some day, owing to a conscience and other considerations, Mrs. Rivers would leave him, and he really did not know what he should do then. When he brushed himself on his ancestral throne, Mrs. Rivers was always very near at hand.

whether actually on the throne beside him or just behind it was a point he was prone to shirk. At any cost, though, she must be very near.

As time went on there were many meetings at Palace Gate. The prince, Mr. Shum and Lady Craigenoch were present sometimes. Mrs. Rivers and Byers were never wanting. The prince's imagination was immensely stimulated in those days. Lady's Craigenoch's love for a speculation was splendidly indulged. Mr. Shum's cautious disposition received terrible shocks. Mrs. Rivers discussed European politics, the attitude of the church and the secret quarrels of the cabinet in Prince Julian's country, and Byers silently gathered together all the money of his own and other people's on which he could lay hands. He was meditating a great coup, and just now and then he felt a queer touch of remorse when he reflected that his coup was so very different from the coup to which Mrs. Rivers' disquisitions and the prince's vivid imagination invited him. But he believed in the survival of the fittest, and, although Mrs. Rivers was very fit, he himself was just by a little bit fitter still. Meanwhile the government in the prince's country faced its many difficulties with much boldness and seemed on the whole safe enough.

The birth and attributes of rumor have often engaged the attention of poets. Who can doubt that their rhetoric would have been embellished and their metaphors multiplied had they possessed more intimate acquaintance with the places where money is bought and sold? For in respect of awakening widespread interest and affecting the happiness of homes what is the character of any lady, however highborn, conspicuous or beautiful, compared with the character of a stock? Here indeed is a field for calumny, for innuendo, for hints of frailty, for whispers of intrigue, for scandal mongers have their turn to serve, and the holders are swift to distrust. When somebody writes Sheridan's comedy anew, let him lay the scene of it in a bourse. Between his slandered stock and his slandered dame he may work out a very pretty and fanciful parallel.

Here, however, the facts can be set down only plainly and prosaically. On all the exchanges there arose a feeling of uneasiness respecting the stock of the government of Prince Julian's country. Selling was going on, not in large blocks, but cautiously, continually, in attending dribbles. Surely on a system and with a purpose? Then came paragraphs in the papers (like whispers behind fans) discussing the state of the government and the country much in the vein which had marked Mrs. Rivers' dissertations. By now the stock was down three points. By pure luck it fell another, in mysterious sympathy with the South African mining market. Next there was a riot in a provincial town; in the prince's country, then a minister resigned and made a damaging statement in the chamber. Upon this it seemed no more than natural that attention should be turned to Prince Julian, his habits, his entourage, his visitors. And now there were visitors. Nobles and gentlemen crossed the channel to see him. They came stealthily, yet not so secretly but that there was a paragraph. These great folk had heard the rumors, and hope had revived in their breasts. They talked to Mrs. Rivers. Mrs. Rivers had talked previously to Mr. Byers.

A day later a weekly paper which possessed good and claimed universal information announced that great activity reigned among Prince Julian's party and that his royal highness was considering the desirability of issuing a manifesto. "Certain, ulterior steps," the writer continued, "are in contemplation, but of these it would be premature to speak." There was not very much in all this, but it made the friends of the stock rather uncomfortable, and they were no more happy when a leading article in a leading paper demonstrated beyond possibility of cavil that Prince Julian had a fair chance of success, but that, if he regained the throne, he could look to hold it only by seeking glory in an aggressive attitude toward his neighbors. On the appearance of this luminous forecast the poor stock fell two points more. There had been a sanve qui pent of the timid holders.

Then, actually came the manifesto, and it was admitted on all hands to be such an excellent manifesto as to amount to an event of importance. Whoever had drawn it up—and this question was never settled—he knew how to lay his fingers on all the weak spots of the existing government, how to touch on the glories of Prince Julian's house, what tone to adopt on vexed questions, how to rouse the enthusiasm of all the discontented. "Given that the prince's party possess the necessary resources," observed the same leading journal, "it cannot be denied that the situation has assumed an aspect of gravity." And the poor stock fell yet a little more, upon which Mr. Shum, who had a liking for taking a profit when he saw it, ventured to ask his partner how long he meant "to keep it up."

"We'll talk about that tomorrow," said Mr. Byers. "I'm going to call in Palace Gate this afternoon." He looked very thoughtful as he brushed his hat and sent for a hansom, but as he drove along his brow cleared, and he smiled triumphantly. If the prince's party had not the necessary resources, they could do nothing; if they did nothing, would not the drooping stock lift up her head again? Now, nobody was in a position to solve that problem about the necessary resources so surely or so swiftly as Mr. Byers.

A hundred yards from Prince Julian's house he saw Lady Craigenoch walking along the pavement and got out of his cab to join her. She was full of the visit she had just paid, above all of Ellen Rivers.

"Because she's the whole thing, you know," she said. "The adherents—good graces, what helpless creatures! I don't wonder the republicans upset them if that's what they're all like. Oh, they're gentlemen, of course, and you're not, Byers (Mr. Byers bowed slightly and smiled acquiescently), but I'd rather have you than a thousand of them. And the prince, poor dear, is hardly better. Always talking of what he'll do when he's there, never thinking how he's going to get there!"

Byers let her run on. She was giving him both instruction and amusement. "And then he's afraid—oh, not of the bullets or the guillotine, or whatever it is—because he's a gentleman, too, you know. (Or perhaps you don't know! I wonder if you do? Shum

"You'd better let somebody else engineer this thing," he said. "Perhaps you do. But he's afraid of losing her. If he goes, she won't go with him. I don't mean as—she is now, you know. She won't go anywhere, not as his wife even. Well, of course, if he married her he'd wreck the whole thing. But one would hardly expect her to see that—or even to care if he did. She's very odd." Lady Craigenoch paused a moment. "She's fond of him, too," she added. "She's a very queer woman."

"A lady?" asked Mr. Byers, with a touch of satire. "Oh, yes!" said Lady Craigenoch, scornful that he needed to ask. "But so odd. Well, you've seen her with him—just like a mother with her pet boy! How hard she's worked, to be sure! She told me how she'd got him to sign the what's his name? He almost cried because he'd have to go without her, you know. But she says it's all right now. He won't go back now, because he's given his word. And she's simply triumphant, though she's fond of him and though she won't go with him." Again Lady Craigenoch paused. "People won't call on that woman, you know," she remarked after her pause. Then she added: "Of course that's

Does Coffee Agree With You? If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it, but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee. It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15c and 25c."

right, except for a replicate time me. But still!"

"She's an interesting woman," said Byers in a perfunctory sympathy with his companion's enthusiasm.

Lady Craigenoch cooled down and fixed a cold and penetrating glance on him.

"Yes, and you're an interesting man," she said. "What are you doing, Mr. Byers?"

"Vindicating right divine," he answered.

Lady Craigenoch smiled. "Well, whatever it is," she said, "Shum has promised that I shall stand in." Again she paused. "Only," she resumed, "if you're making a fool of that woman." She seemed unable to finish the sentence. There had been genuine indignation in her eyes for a moment; it faded away, but there came a slight flush on her cheek as she added, "But that doesn't matter if it's in the way of business, does it?"

"And Shum has promised that you shall stand in," Byers reminded her gravely.

Lady Craigenoch dug her parasol into the streak of earth that showed between pavement and curbstone.

"Anyhow I'm glad I called on her," she said. "I'm not much, heaven knows, but I'm a woman to speak to."

"To cry to?" he hazarded.

"How do you know she cried? Think what she'd been through, poor thing! Oh, you won't find her crying!"

"I hope not," said Mr. Byers with a perfect seriousness in his slightly nasal tones, and when they parted he said to himself, "That woman hates having to know me. But there were many people in that position, and he spent much time in increasing the number, so the reflection caused him no pain, but rather a sense of self-complacency. When people know you who hate having to know you, you are somebody. The thought passed, and the next moment he found himself being glad that Ellen Rivers had a woman to speak to—or to cry to—even though it were only Lady Craigenoch."

STRANGE TACTICS OF A LOON.

Its Dependence Upon the Wind to Assist Its Flight.

I have shot at loons a great many times on the lakes of northern Wisconsin, and on Lake Superior, and have never known them to attempt to escape from danger unless there was a wind of which they could take advantage in their attempts to rise, states a contributor. I remember once, in company with my brother, trying to secure a loon as a specimen for mounting. The bird was in a lake about three-fourths of a mile long and about 200 yards wide in its narrowest part. My brother was secreted at one end of the lake, and I in a canoe kept the bird in motion, trying to get it within range of my brother's gun, and giving it a chance whenever a chance offered. Although harried for two or three hours it never once attempted to rise from the water. There was a slight breeze, if I mistake not, but not enough to be of any use in the loon's attempt to escape by flight. During the chase the loon swam a distance of 200 yards or more under water, repeatedly, without appearing above the surface. Lake Superior fishermen tell me they have caught them in their nets at great depths. Among those with whom I have talked on the subject it is believed that a loon cannot rise from the water without the aid of a wind blowing directly opposite to the line of flight.

Rough on the General.

A French actor named Hyacinthe once illustrated the saying, "Discretion is the better part of valor," relates Tit-Bits. It was in the month of June and a company of the National Guard, of which Hyacinthe was a sergeant, was engaging a body of insurgents behind a barricade at the other end of a short street. One of the insurgents in particular, from a corner of the barricade, was making remarkably effective practice on the assailants. At that moment up came a general. "We must get him to expose himself," said the general. "One of you must clamber up on top of the barricade; then, when our friend at the other end of the street shows himself to take aim, two or three of you fetch him down. Up with you, sergeant!" Beg your pardon, general, but, perhaps, you see, an insignificant non-commissioned officer like myself may have no attraction for him. But a handsome, distinguished man like you, in that stylish and becoming uniform—he'd be more than mortal if he could resist the temptation! I'll lend you a hand, general."
